Democratic party has had but one ... of administration. In that brief ... the fear of Democratic statesmanship and Democratic legislation has closed workshops, silenced factories, stopped the vast machinery of our commercial world, created vast bodies of idle workmen and brought starvation and desolation to thousands of homes. Discontent and lawlessness have taken the place of peace and happiness. Thanks to the determined stand of the Republican minority, the legislation, the fear of which has caused this change in the condition of our country, has not materialized. The stand of our representatives in Congress, and that of a few Democratic Senators with leanings toward protection, has prevented the passage of a free trade bill, but has resulted in the preparation of a bill by the Democratic majority which is absolutely founded upon no principles, and is ridiculed by members of all parties.

There are other questions than the tariff; however, which will need the attention of the Republican party. Equally important with it for the welfare of our country is the consideration of the future of our national currency. There has been much misrepresentation as to the attitude of the Republican party on this question. The Republican party is not for gold alone, nor for silver alone, but for both gold and silver. They are for the maintenance of the parity of gold and silver money, and are in favor of such legislation as will keep the purchasing and debt paying power of the dollar, whether of gold or silver, at all times equal. The question as how this can be best brought about is the matter at issue. Silver is to-day, and always has been, the money of the people, and its future can be safely entrusted to the protecting care of the Republican party.

Our Arid Lands.

There are other questions which should have the consideration of our party. One, the reclamation of our arid lands through irrigation; the other, the re-establishment of our merchant marine. It is a part of the mission of the Republican party to see that every ship that sails the seas with the American flag at her mast, has the same aid and protection that its competitors have from the nations they represent. There are within the domain of the United States some two hundred million acres of arid lands which can be reclaimed by irrigation laws. The British government has spent in India alone some four hundred millions of dollars in making fertile the vast areas of desert which existed in that country, and it is on that land the wheat is now being raised which is coming in competition with our own farms. It is the duty of the Republican party to see that such legislation is enacted as will secure the reclamation of this vast waste of land, otherwise useless; preparing it for cultivation for the thousands and millions of settlers of the future.

It is the consideration of such questions as these which hold the attention of the statesmen of to-day. It is such principles that you are to inherit, and for which you are responsible, and they need only intelligent consideration to carry them on to a proper solution. To us, as young Republicans, is consigned the task of preserving the escutcheon of the Republican party as clear and spotless as when handed down by the immortal leaders, Lincoln, Grant and Garfield. It is within the power of the young men of this convention to make this country Republican for full thirty years, and so promote in every way the interests of all the people.

The leaders who have so long and so successfully fought the battle of the Republican party, must soon give place to younger men; let us prepare to assume the responsibilities of leadership while we may yet have their counsel and advice; let your deliberations be so filled with wisdom and patriotism that the voice of this convention will echo over every mountain, penetrate every valley, and find a welcome in the heart of every Republican in the land. Let us go forth from this meeting full of strength, full of faith, full of fidelity to Republican principles, and then inspired by the glories of the past and the hope of the future, the Republican National league will continue to march at the head of the invincible army of patriotism.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was late in starting, but seating accommodations had been completed, and all were satisfied. The confusion in part of the morning had been due to the liberal requests of visiting delegations for more seats than they required. New Mexico was given a front row on the stage with Tennessee right behind them, Kansas to the left and rear, Michigan, Nevada, Massachusetts and Oklahoma on the extreme right. The one lonesome Cherokee stood up on the prompt wing.

The center of the parquette was occupied by Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Texas, Kentucky, Utah, Idaho and Colorado. On the left was Ohio and Indiana; on the right was Illinois, New York, Louisiana and Arizona. Smaller delegations were sandwiched about. The 25 circular boxes surrounding the parquette were filled with guests mostly the visiting ladies who had accompanied the delegates.

Lady Delegates.

A number of ladies sat with the delegates. In the proscenium boxes were Mrs. William Tracy, Chicago; Mrs. W. L. Distin, Quincy, Ill.; Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, Washington; Mrs. Frank Hall, Colorado Springs; Mrs. E. C. Fester, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. James Boyle, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. E. J. Miller, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. B. L. McElroy, Mt. Vernon; Miss Locke, Barnes, Ohio; Miss S. White, Pittsburg, Pa.; and Judge Thurston's family, Mrs. J. H. Smith, Mrs. S. Neville, Mrs. H. Kellogg and Miss Zepp of Cleveland.

At 3:35 the Iowa State band, which had given a number of selections opened up on "Marching Through Georgia," the galleries and Kansas roared forth enthusiastic applause and then President Tracey pounded the wooden nutmeg. Mr. Flackwell of Massachusetts quickly arose and read this resolution on behalf of Massachusetts and Vermont delegations:

We again recommend to the favorable consideration of the Republican clubs of the United States as a matter of education the question of granting to the women of state and nation the right to vote at all elections on the same terms and conditions as male citizens. (Applause.)

We congratulate the women of Colorado and Wyoming upon their possession of the elective franchise, and we cordially invite their co-operation with us to rescue the country from Democratic and Populist misrule.

Equal Suffrage.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster arose to a question of personal privilege, and asked in choice words that Mr. Blackwell of Massachusetts might be presented to the convention as an earnest champion of equal suffrage. She added that he was the husband of the late lamented Lucy Blackwell of national note as an advocate of equal suffrage.

Mr. Blackwell gave a brief, earnest speech upon his favored topic, closing by urging the Republican League to adopt this plank at an early date.

Mr. Herring of Arizona offered a free coinage resolution in which Congress is urged to immediately pass a law making both gold and silver coin unlimited legal tender upon a ratio to be fixed by Congress.

Letters of Regret.

Letters and telegrams of regret were read from Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Hon. J. Sloat Fassett of New York, Governor Knute Nelson of Minnesota, General R. A. Alger, Michigan; Hon. Thomas B. Reed of Maine, Hon.

THE CONVENTION.

ELECTIONEERING ONE FEATURE.

(Editorial Correspondence.)

Denver, June 26.—Yesterday was Colorado day; this is United States day. If Denver ever was sectional, it is not so to-day. For many months Denver people have become accustomed to a maudlin sentimentalism and a cry for sectional alliance with the South; to-day that snake is scorched, if not killed; and the great loyal North, with what of the South is loyal and national, not sectional, has taken possession of the city.

The keynote was sounded yesterday by George Thurston, and there has been nothing to jar the harmony ever since. Even to free and unlimited, unconditional and immediate silver people have not said a word to indicate that under any conceivable condition would secession or retaliation be even considered. "You cannot drive us out of the Republican party," said Gullett of Gunnison, one of the most insistent silver men in the State, in his speech Monday night, and the sentiment was applauded to the echo. This morning President Goudy of the State league, in his speech of welcome, kept up the tide of harmony, and aroused great enthusiasm among all the delegations. There is no talk of "free silver and free trade." Such talk would be hissed; the motto here is "Bimetallism and Protection." Yesterday we heard more of the former; to-morrow we shall hear more of the latter.

There has been no other league convention at which so much electioneering and wire-pulling has been done for candidates and localities. But notwithstanding the "shrieks of locality" and the interest of persons in the offices of the league, the great tide of sentiment is national; the local contests are only eddies.

The chief contest, and the most exciting one is that for place of next meeting. The Cleveland men are here in force, and shout vociferously and in chorus upon every possible occasion, "SILVER'S ALL RIGHT! WHO'S ALL RIGHT? CLEVELAND, O-HI-O!"

The men from Des Moines are in good voice, too, and yell in chorus "I-O-WAY, IOO-WAY!" in a way to make one's head split. Monday night both crowds took possession of the first story balcony of the Brown Palace, and for two hours each tried to see which could make the most noise.

The Minnesota crowd are doing their work in a quieter way and one that may perhaps be more effective. They have no brass band, like Iowa, and they do not shout several hours a day, like the Buckeyes, but they have brought along pictures of their auditorium, and they are buttonholing and trading in a way that shows experience and ability. John Goodnow, the president of the Minnesota State League, is a born politician and a trained and skillful organizer. If Minneapolis doesn't get the next convention it will not be his fault.

The New Yorkers are after first one thing, the presidency of the league for Colonel Ed McAlpine. The three presidents so far have all come from what New Yorkers call the West—Thurston from Nebraska, Clarkson from Iowa, Tracey from Illinois. Now they think it is the turn of the East. They point, too, to the efficient work done by Colonel McAlpine when he was president of the New York State league, and urge that he is just the man to put in at this particular time.

The Illinois men, who have the advantage of being present with half again as many delegates as the New Yorkers, urge that whereas Thurston had three terms and Clarkson two, Tracey has had only one; that he has made a good president and deserves re-election, and that Illinois is entitled to consideration. Furthermore, unless the president is to be changed every year, a man elected now would have served two years in June, 1896—a time when it will be bad to "swop horses."

As the thing stands now, the result depends on the action of the Rules Committee. If the states are allowed to vote their full quota whether present or not, New York will probably land McAlpine; if on the other hand only those delegates who are present are allowed to vote, Illinois with the help of the bigger Western delegation, will probably re-elect Tracy. There are precedents both ways. At Louisville last year the states were allowed to vote their full quota; at Cincinnati they were allowed to vote only those present.

But, as has been said, these rivalries, while hot enough to lend great additional interest to the meeting, do not disturb, but only seem to intensify the harmony and enthusiasm that prevail on the main question—that the Republican party must "get there" next November.

The State League meeting was full in numbers and enthusiasm. Compared with any other convention that has been seen for years in Colorado, there was wonderful good feeling. El Paso did not get what she was entitled to in the way of honors, but most of our delegation felt that the weak counties needed compliments more than El Paso does, and that our county can afford to let non-essentials go to those who prize them. Our delegation was a most excellent one, and created the best kind of an impression; and its headquarters were the most convenient and conspicuous of any in the hotel. Many of the delegates are here yet, having remained to see the national convention.

All of us have been doing missionary work as we had opportunity, in behalf of Colorado Springs and the Pike's Peak region; and Thursday, Friday and Saturday you will see a great many visitors—I should say at least 300 and probably more. The Cog road has already secured contracts for three or four large parties. A longer excursion is also talked of, over the South Park to Leadville to see the silver mines and convince the Easterners that it costs more than 50 cents an ounce to produce the white metal; and then to bring the party over the Midland to Manitou and Colorado Springs.

If this scheme materializes—and the Union Pacific people are working hard on it—the party may not reach Colorado Springs till Saturday.

If there is any want of harmony—not to say any contention—in the convention, it will probably be developed when the report of the Committee on Resolutions is brought in for adoption. There are some Western men who propose to follow the advice of that arch-enemy, the Rocky Mountain News, and insist on a resolution demanding immediate, unconditional free and unlimited coinage of silver now and forever, amen. There are others—and certainly enough the strongest sentiment is from Ohio and Pennsylvania—who don't want any silver resolution at all.

Logically the non-resolutionists are right, because the league has no power to impost any policy on the party, and it is no real part of the purpose of this volunteer organization to demand anything of the party. However, logic must sometimes go by the board. Some sort of resolutions are always passed, and it is impossible to leave out a bimetallic plank in the platform prepared here.

The Committee on Resolutions has a hard time. Buttonholing began Monday. I happened to be sitting in the headquarters of the New York delegation, when a little brisk old gentleman came bustling in, and inquired for the New York member of the Committee on Resolutions. He was the Massachusetts member, and his hobby is woman suffrage, and he had prepared a draft of a resolution which he thought could not fail to suit everybody. Then the New York man—who, by the way is a Dr. Robinson—turned on the Massachusetts man and asked him to support a resolution calling on the Republicans in the Senate to beat the tariff bill if they have to sit up nights to do it. So they parted; but the New York man was afterward instructed by his delegation to sit down hard on woman's suffrage, and no one knows whether Massachusetts will vote for filibustering or not.

Besides women suffragists there are prohibitionists and referendumites and initiators and merchant mariners and arid-landers and people with 20 different things each of which is considered by its advocates to be the one great issue which it is really necessary for the convention to endorse in order to win for the party the votes of intelligent people. That committee will sit up all night and wrestle with all these good people and to-morrow they will be tired and gaunt, and when everybody wants to know confidentially just why his special fad didn't get in they will wish they had never been born. A MIDNIGHT ALARM.

The Steam Gong Turned on Last Night—People Thought Trouble had Come.

About 12:30 last night the steam fire gong at the electric light house blew for the first time in many months. It had the effect of startling many people, and getting them out of bed to inquire what was going on. Most persons believed it to be a fire. The following facts were ascertained: It seems that last evening or yesterday afternoon a message of some kind came to the county jail informing them that the building was to be blown up during the night. Rumor had it a telephone message from Cripple Creek. It seems that they took some stock in it, at least enough to take precautionary measures. It had been arranged some days ago that if there should be any trouble in this city that the alarm should be blown to warn the police and the sheriff and his men. Last evening Jailer Beale went down and saw the engineer and arranged with him to blow the whistle when he sent word. The engineer was busy at one of his dynamos last night when a man ran in and said: "The miners are coming, blow the whistle." The fellow had in his hand a rifle or gun. The engineer did not stop to inquire, but blew the machine as hard and long as possible. In a few minutes the streets were full of men hurrying along, some with guns. The matter was soon explained and the crowds dispersed. The man with the gun was of medium height, and wore a black mustache. The people at the county jail declare that it was none of the men at their place who knew of the signal that did it. It must have been some one who did know of it however.

The people of the town have about arrived at the point of inquiring who it is that is doing all this work, and what the object is. It looks like an organized effort to keep up an excitement. The fire alarm is most startling, especially to a stranger. The fool killer is needed in this town just now more than any other person.

THE TARSNEY AFFAIR.

Officials Have Not Yet Made Arrests—Grand Jury Considering.

There are practically no new developments in the Tarsney affair. There have been no arrests made, although some may be, it is intimated. Yesterday morning the grand jury reassembled and Judge Campbell called its attention to the outrage on the adjutant general. He instructed them that it was their duty to investigate this reported outrage, as well as those reported from other parts of the county. He told them that there were several charges under which it could be investigated as the evidence might develop. It might be a simple case of assault; an assault to do bodily harm or perhaps kidnapping. It is said the jury will have a number of people to examine in regard to it.

The local officials are doing all they can in the matter, but the organizers of the raid keep their secret. The Denver detectives were still here yesterday sleuthing around, but they have not tried to make arrests. A rumor was started in Denver that they had returned there and reported having been run out of this city. It was untrue if they so reported. Some of the Denver papers are still keeping up the talk, and one would think the town in a state of hysteria if they believed the reports sent out. The people of Colorado Springs are greatly mortified that such an occurrence has happened here, but they know that it was done by a few men at the very most and perhaps not by citizens of the town. If a mob of thousands of citizens had broken open a jail and dragged a miserable Italian through the streets and hung him up on the principle business corner, while the sheriff and the police looked calmly on as amused spectators then the people would be bowed down with the proper weight of humility to suit the Denver papers, but in this case they feel that the aforesaid papers are going too far in calling attention to our misfortunes. That was the opinion expressed by many persons here yesterday.

Prendergast's Trial.

Chicago, June 26.—Assassin Prendergast was a witness in his own behalf in Judge Payne's court where his sanity is being tested. The preliminary examination was conducted by Judge Payne. His replies were intelligently given for a few minutes until he suddenly decided not to submit to further questioning. The court told him that he would continue to examine whether he replied or not. Some [illegible] were made, while he avoided others. The examination then drifted toward the assassination of Harrison particularly as to whether the murder was premeditated and whether the prisoner had been advised by others in the matter. Throughout the ordeal Prendergast appeared petulant and childish, occasionally smiling cheerfully and speaking without any restraint, and again relaxing into a cross and reticent mood.

A Train Held Up.

Savannah, Ga., June 26.—Train No. 6 of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, from Thomasville, due to arrive here at 7 o'clock this morning, was held up one mile this side of Homerville, 120 miles southwest of Savannah at 1:30 this morning by six masked white men. The safe in the express car was robbed of its contents, $1,[illegible] in cash. Two of the men boarded the train at Homerville, concealing themselves behind the tender. As soon as it started they climbed over the tender, covered the engineer and fireman with pistols and told Engineer Jenkins to stop when ordered.

Weather Indications.

Washington, June 26.—For Wednesday—Probably thunder storms; slightly cooler in the afternoon, winds becoming northwest.

BOYCOTT ON.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SWITCHMEN

Chicago, June 26.—The boycott declared against the Pullman Palace Car company by the American Railway union went into effect at 12 o'clock noon to-day. The order is supposed to include every railroad in the United States which handles Pullman cars, and, as declared by the union officials, every road which insists upon running the sleepers will be subjected to a strike if necessary.

As a result of the boycott all of the switchmen in the freight yards of the Illinois Central went out at 6:10 o'clock this evening and no freight of any character is being handled in the yards. The order to strike was issued this afternoon but not served until late and after it became apparent that the Illinois Central officials were determined to run the Pullman cars.

In addition to the freight switchmen it is expected that the men working in the upper yards handling the passenger trains will go out to-morrow morning. The strike was sudden and so far is effective, taking the officials by surprise and leaving the work in the yards in bad shape. About 400 men are included in the Freight Switchmen's unions, two in number, and when the passenger switchmen go out it will swell the number to about 500.

It had been announced to-day that no trains to which Pullman sleepers were attached would be permitted to go out of the Illinois Central depot after 12 o'clock, and as a precautionary measure the company had all of its trains made up last night. The coaches were chained together, padlocked and sealed with the company seal at the couplings, and in addition each train carried a guard of ten special officers employed by the railroad. The engineers and trainmen received orders from their chiefs to-day not to take part in the boycott or assist the union men in any way, and the railroad company relied on this to a great extent in getting out their trains.

At 9 o'clock to-night a mob of switchmen and sympathizers congregated at Grand Crossing, the junction of the Illinois Central and other roads out of Chicago, and overpowering the one or two special officers there took charge of the signal gates and refused to permit the passage of the Illinois Central trains. The officials of the road were notified and a request for police protection brought out a squad of police from the Grand Crossing station. The mob was driven away without violence and the officers opened the gates themselves. The men again attempted to secure control of the signals, but were repulsed. No arrests were made, and at 11 o'clock it was reported that the mob had disbanded.

Late to-night all suburban trains on the Illinois Central were abandoned on account of the trainmen, who are members of the American Railway Union, joining the switchmen in their strike.

A mass meeting of about one thousand railroad men, trainmen and yard employees of the roads entering the city from the South Side was held this evening. President E. V. Debs of the American Railway Union and Vice President Howard of the same organization addressed the gathering.

Colorado Roads Affected.

Pueblo, Colo., June 27.—12:30 a. m.—Santa Fe train No. 7, from the east, due here at 11:50 p. m. is being held at La Junta. The train crew, in charge of George Thornburge, refuse to move the train unless the two Pullman sleepers are uncoupled and sidetracked. They say just as soon as this is done traffic will be resumed. Train No. 6 for the east which left this city at midnight will not be permitted to leave La Junta unless the three Pullmans she carries are cut off. The men say they do not wish to cripple the Santa Fe road, but will not allow any of the boycotted cars to be hauled.

Denver and Rio Grande train No. 4 for the west passed here at 11:50; this is not a division point, so the train passed unmolested. At Salida, fifty miles west stand will be taken, the railroad yardmen say, to cut off the four sleepers.

U. S. MARSHALS CALLED

To Protect the Property of the Cincinnati Southern.

Cincinnati, June 26.—There was no attempt to tie up the Pullman cars in Cincinnati. United States Deputy-Marshal Cox, at Covington, Ky., received orders from Judge William Taft of the United States Court this morning to issue a call for United States deputy-marshals of Kentucky to report at the government building in Covington, there to await orders. Judge Taft's action is to protect property of the Southern railroad which is in control of the United States government.

MOB REVENGE.

Forty Italian Shops Gutted and Burned to Avenge the President's Death.

Lyons, June 26.—Forty Italian shops in this city have been gutted and burned by the mob. The police are either powerless to suppress the disorders or else are inclined to do so. Anyway it is strange that they are never on hand in force until the damage is done, though they have in all cases had ample warning. Four rioters were killed to-day by an explosion of petroleum in a store which they were sacking.

Situation Becoming Worse.

Lyons, June 26.—The situation becomes worse every hour. This evening a company of cavalry charged the rioters with drawn sabers. A delegation from the Chamber of Commerce went to the prefecture this afternoon and demanded that all necessary measures be taken to put a stop to the troubles. The impotency of the officials causes general discontent. Many persons demand that the state of siege be proclaimed.

Funeral Arrangements.

Paris, June 26.—The public will be admitted to view the body of President Carnot to-morrow and thereafter daily until the funeral takes place. The coffin, with the head slightly raised, has been placed in the middle room of the palace. A cushion covered with decorations lies at the feet of the corpse. The catafalque is square, sustained by four columns.

The funeral obsequies will begin on Sunday with services in the cathedral of Notre Dame and conclude with the ceremony of depositing the body in the pantheon. The cabinet has decided to introduce a bill in the Chamber of Deputies providing that all persons in the navy, army and civil service shall observe a month's period of mourning.

CRIPPLE CREEK.

Latest News from El Paso's Great Gold Camp.

Cripple Creek, June 26.—Yesterday the Gibralter claim, on Raven Hill, about 400 feet west of the Elkton, was leased and bonded to Carr & Linde. This property ought to be the making of a bonanza, and it is surprising to hear that the bond only called for $25,000.

Mining operations on Beaver and in what is known as the Mount Rosa district, situated a short distance from the half-way house, on the Cheyenne canon road, are fast assuming proportions little dreamed of by the average residents of Cripple Creek.

In the East Beaver, sometimes called Pike's Camp, in Mount Rosa district, there are between 300 and 400 prospectors actively engaged in developing claims. In addition to this number there are 100 or 200 more prospectors not having yet made locations, or at least, not having settled down to develop them.

Near Peck's Camp, at least five properties have been opened from which ore of an average value of $50 has been taken in considerable quantities. So well satisfied are the owners with the values of this ore that they are now building a wagon road to connect with the Colorado Springs road, over which they will make shipments to the Colorado Springs mill on West Beaver, it being hauled only 12 miles. Numerous tests have been made on this ore, and it has been demonstrated that it is a very good grade of milling ore and amalgamated up to even a good per cent. in the ordinary stamp mills. The country rock is generally granite and trachyte, the vein being of quartz, with pulp and in some instances some porphory appears. In many of the veins there is a considerable per cent. of copper, in some cases it being high enough to pay for handling it for the copper alone. All of these veins show values in gold, and occasionally a little silver. The owners are so well pleased with their properties that many of them ahve already made applications for United States patents thereon.

C. W. Franklin, the attorney, has secured a bond and lease on the Nightingale, situated on the west side of Bull Hill, and will to-morrow morning commence development work thereon. This work will be supervised by Charles B. Flynn. The Nightingale adjoins the Lotta and the Wolftone, and is right in the center of a network of veins, and, with reasonable luck, the lessee ought to make a nice thing out of it.

A report is current that a strike of very rich ore has been made in the west side of Mineral Hill, in the last few days.

FIFTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

Senate.

Washington, June 26.—Some eight sections, covering about eighteen pages of the tariff bill, were disposed of to-day, all applying to the income tax; and twelve pages more remain to be gone through with before that portion of the bill will be completed. The votes exempting the salaries of the President of the United States and of the United States judges are to be reconsidered unless Mr. McLaurin (Dem.) of Mississippi should change his opinion on that point, but whether he will wait till the bill shall be reported to the Senate or not, remains to be decided. During the first half of the day Mr. Hill was again the central figure of opposition to the Finance Committee. That was on a motion to exempt from the provisions of the income tax bonds issued by States. Four Democratic Senators who had been hitherto faithful to their party ranged themselves on the side of Mr. Hill. They were Senators Gray (Delaware), Morgan and Pugh (Alabama), and Caffery (Louisiana.) But Mr. Morgan, who would have voted for Mr. Hill's amendment, was paired with Mr. Quay, who, as a Republican, would also have voted for it, and so two votes in its favor were lost. Besides that, Senator Irby of South Carolina, who has usually been found voting with Mr. Hill, voted with his party; and the Populist Senators also voted with the Democrats. In this way Mr. Hill failed to get his amendment adopted; but he came dangerously close to it—the vote being 27 to 30. The provisions as to corporations occupied the remainder of the day's session, up to 6:15, when the Senate adjourned.

House.

The House to-day finally disposed of the General Deficiency Appropriation bill for the year ending June 30, 1894. Most of the session was spent in consideration of the question of paying the judgments rendered by the Court of Claims in the matter of claims on account of Indian depredations. It was agreed as the result of three hours discussion to appropriate $100,000 toward the payment of the judgments, which aggregated $514,000. The changes made in the bill added, net something over $100,000 to the total of appropriations carried by, making it in round numbers $5,000,000.

In the morning hour a Senate bill was passed on motion of Mr. McCann (Dem.) of Illinois, making Labor Day (the first Monday in September) a legal holiday. Also a House bill, on motion of Mr. Pickler (Rep.) of South Dakota providing that in all claims arising under the pension laws of the United States, the oath of a private soldier or non-commissioned officer shall have the same force and effect as that of a commissioned officer.

THE RATIO.

It is with great pleasure that we reprint this morning a letter from M. Cernuschi, the celebrated French economist, on the ratio of gold and silver. M. Cernuschi has long been known as a "silver man," and we naturally expect him to favor the old ratio. But that does not make his argument any the less cogent.

This letter was first published in the New York Sun, a newspaper which has had very little to say, outside of the financial column conducted by "Matthew Marshall," about the silver question. Its publication there must have attracted wide attention, and have revealed, to many people in the East what they did not know before, that it is not only in the silver States of the West that there is a demand that the ratio of gold and silver be kept at the old basis.

It has always seemed to us that if the principle of bimetallism were once admitted, if it were recognized that gold and silver ought both to be recognized as money of absolute redemption, then the matter of ratio could easily be settled. We ourselves fully believe, with M. Cernuschi, that the ratio of 15 1-2 to 1 would prove to be the most convenient all around. It was the French ratio when France had free coinage, and it was maintained by the action of the French government for a century. We do not believe there would be any real difficulty in maintaining it again by an international agreement.

There has been a tremendous falling off in the production of silver during the past year, and a corresponding increase in the production of gold. What has been true in Colorado has been true in great measure all over the world. Where it is much more profitable to mine gold than to mine silver, men will mine gold, and stop mining silver. The amount of gold in the world in the world in proportion to silver is therefore appreciably larger now than it was year ago, and if the two metals were simple commodities, the ratio of silver to gold would be smaller than it was a year ago.

It is undoubtedly true that if silver were to be restored to monetary use, the mines would start up again, and the production would increase largely in the next two or three years; but there is no good reason to suppose, on that account that the ratio would not be maintained. The price at the mints of the world would regulate the price everywhere.

We are glad to see such a letter as this of M. Cernuschi's in an eastern paper. The education of the American people in the doctrine of bimetallism is going on very fast.

That bitter Populistic paper, The News, thinks it is perfectly safe in offering a reward for the perpetrators of those brutal acts against Rabideau committed on Bull hill because it does not believe that they occurred. It is very probable from the evidence now being accumulated that the perpetrators of those outrages will be brought to justice and that The News will have the pleasure of paying that reward—to one of Sheriff Bowers's deputies.

Governor Waite assures the Republican State League that had he been invited to deliver an address of welcome he would not have offended the most critical. But fortunately the State League was well acquainted with His Excellency and his ideas of propriety, hence he was not invited.

The Republicans of Colorado have set the ball rolling for one of the most aggressive campaigns ever fought in the State. The prevalent feeling at the convention was that the State must be redeemed from "Waiteism" and "Populistic misrule."

It is evident that Senator Hill of New York does not expect the Presidential nomination in 1896 at the hands of the Democratic party and that he is putting things in such a shape that no one else will want it.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

It is reported that a deal is on foot by which The Evening Sun and The Times are to be consolidated and that a straight "Middle-of-the-road" Republican paper is to be published.

The Chicago Inter Ocean thinks that the Democracy of 1894 should inscribe on its banners "We protect ourselves and our wives, our sons and our son's wives, and all others who contribute liberally. There is nothing mean about us."

The Anti-Option bill went through Congress with a whirl. It will not prevent the people however from dealing in futures and taking an option on the seats of some of the present incumbents.

"Redeem the State." is the motto of the Republican State League.

THE BIMETALLIC RATIO.

Cernuschi Says It Must be the Old 15½ to 1 or Nothing—His Reasons.

(From the London Times)

To the Editor of The Times.

Sir,—By an accident which I regret, your challenge to bimetallists escaped my attention until to-day.

Speaking of the Mansion House conference, you said:

"More confidence might, perhaps, be felt in the maintenance of a ratio by agreement if bimetallists would deign to tell us what ratio they would fix if they had their way. * * But it is at this point that the courage of bimetallists fails them. One and all they shrink from giving the smallest indication of what they think the ratio ought to be."

I beg your leave to reply.

Either it will be stipulated that silver is to be universal money and that gold is to be money in Europe and the United States at the ratio of 1 to 15 1-2 of silver, or nothing will be stipulated.

Why?

Because if, for the 15 1-2 ratio, a ratio more favorable to gold were substituted, France would either have to melt down her gold francs in order to create lighter ones, or melt down her silver francs in order to create heavier ones. I am about to demonstrate that France cannot and should not engage to melt down either her gold francs or her silver francs.

Two hundred silver francs (9-10 fine) weigh one kilogramme (40 pieces of 5 francs). Three thousand one hundred gold francs (9-10 fine) also weigh one kilogramme (155 pieces of 20 francs). These 200 francs in silver and these 3100 francs in gold exhibit the old 1 to 15 1-2 ratio, constituted by free bimetallic coinage prior to 1873.

Suppose that, according to what is proposed in several quarters, France agreed to adopt, as international ratio between silver and gold, the 1 to 25 ratio in lieu of her old 1 to 15 1-2 ratio.

If France were to set about this change by creating gold francs of less weight than the present franc she would have to cut up the kilogramme of gold no longer into 155 pieces, but into 250 pieces, each to be current as 20 francs, although lighter. There would then be 5000 gold francs confronting 200 silver francs; for 5000 is to 200 as 25 to 1. He who now possesses 3100 gold francs would find himself possessing 5000. He would melt down the 155 pieces and would present his ingot to the mint, which would give it back to him cut up into 250 pieces of 20 francs each (5000 francs). He would so gain 1000 francs or 62 per cent. This is absurd, ridiculous, inadmissible.

But if, to realize the ratio of 1 to 25, France, instead of altering the gold francs, called in the silver francs and created heavier ones, what would happen? The kilogramme of silver would have to be cut up, no longer into 200 francs but only into 124 francs; for 3100 francs gold are to 124 francs silver as 25 to 1, a loss of 76 francs, or 38 per cent. This loss would have to be borne, not by the holders, but by the government. In exchange for every milliard of francs withdrawn from circulation the French treasury would have to deliver a fresh milliard in silver pieces at the increased weight of 38 per cent., or else in gold francs, a loss of 380 millions of francs on every milliard.

It is true that the 5-franc pieces since 1873, have been metallic assignats, just like all the silver pieces existing in Europe and in the United States, and just like rupees since the free coining of silver was prohibited in India. But the gold francs are so plentiful that they are not at a premium on the silver francs. If England declines bimetallism at 15 1-2, France will have to keep the status quo. She will wait.

The disappearance of the French bimetallic par in 1873 has had two consequences—(1) frequent and violent fluctuations in the rate of exchange between the countries coining only gold on the one hand, and on the other hand the silver monometallic countries; (2) a heavy fall in that rate of exchange.

Fluctuations in the rate of exchange would cease of course if any ratio (10, 15, 20, 25) were fixed by the great metallic powers. But the incommensurable evil which the heavy fall in that exchange has caused and is causing cannot cease except by the revival of the 15 1-2 ratio. If the ratio 1 to 25 were established by an international convention it would only confirm that evil, consecrating and maintaining it forever. The Indian treasury, which has already in 20 years expended a thousand million rupees, taken from Indian taxpayers to meet the losses on the exchange between the rupee and the sovereign since the fall of the rupee below 2s in 1873, would find itself doomed every year to obtain by taxes or loans about 120 millions of rupees, if, instead of the 15 1-2 ratio, 1 to 25 were internationally adopted as the new ratio. The losses inflicted by the fall in exchange upon agriculture, commerce, and upon many industries in Europe, but especially in Great Britain, as well as the losses inflicted upon the finances of the silver monometallic States, and upon the creditors of those States, would become chronic, perpetual.

The 15 1-2 ratio was proposed jointly by the governments of the United States and of France at the monetary conference held at Paris in 1881. The ratio cannot but suit Germany, for the thaler, which is full legal tender for three marks, is in the 15 1-2 ratio of weight to three gold marks. The Dutch silver florin weighs almost exactly 15 1-2 gold florins. The silver ruble weighs 15 1-2 gold rubles. The silver peseta weighs 15 1-2 gold pesetas. Thus the 15 1-2 ratio suits also Holland, Russia and Spain.

The position of silver in Austria is peculiar. The Austrian florin is too heavy in relation to the newly coined gold crown. If 15 1-2 became the international ratio Austria would have to convert her florins into silver crowns, weighing 15 1-2 gold crowns. The holders of florins would realize a bonus, but other countries would have nothing to complain of, especially as most of these florins were coined at the time when silver was everywhere 15 1-2 compared to gold.

What about the United States?

The silver dollar weighs 412 1-2 grains, that is to say, 16 gold dollars. It is too heavy. It would have to be replaced by a new dollar weighing 15 1-2 gold dollars—that is to say, 400 grains. This process would afford a profit of nearly three cents per dollar to holders of the silver dollars or of their representative silver certificates. Moreover, the federal government, without any expense, would become owner of the balance remaining (the so-called seigniorage) of the silver bought at a low price from July, 1890 to November, 1893. But these profits would not injure Europe; they have been, so to speak, disbursed in advance by the mine-owners who have sold their metal to the government.

As for England, while retaining her gold sovereign and her subsidiary silver coins, she would only have to re-open the Indian mints to the free and unlimited coinage of rupees and to open the London mint to the free coinage of a 4 shilling piece containing 350 grains of pure silver in order to constitute the 15 1-2 ratio of silver with the gold pound.

Were any other power to propose an international ratio more favorable to gold that proposal should be resisted and defeated by England as most injurious to the interests of the British empire.

It is officially stated that another very rich strike has just been made in the property of the Bankers Gold Mining and Milling company, though further information is quietly withheld.—Record.

The richest strike of the season was made Monday by Gow brothers, when they uncovered the Puritan, which they have been prospecting for all winter and spring. They have from two to four inches of quartz which runs $300 per ton in gold.

New York Stock Market.

New York, June 26—Money on call has been easy at 1 per cent., last loan at 1 and closing offered at 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3 1-2@4 per cent.

There was a change for the better in stock circles to-day, the result of the publication of President Cleveland's views on the financial situation. While the President's views met with approval the management of the Treasury Department it is safe to say, in order to perfect the record of the day, is the subject of adverse criticism. The first effect of the publication of the President's interview was witnessed in the cessation of foreign selling of American securities which has been a prominent characteristic of the past week's operations. In fact, European traders turned up as buyers of its specialties, taking about 10,000 shares of St. Paul and other international favorites.

Business was light, only 102,180 shares having been traded in during the day. While the feeling of the moment is bullish operators are not disposed to extend their lines until tariff matters are disposed of. Speculation closed firm and 1-4@1 3-4 per cent. higher, the latter in Lake Shore, which rose to 133 on light transactions. The bond market was firmer. Sales were $950,000.

AYER'S PILLS

"For fifteen years, I was a great sufferer from indigestion in its worst forms. I tried the skill of many doctors, but grew worse and worse, until I became so weak I could not walk fifty yards without having to sit down and rest. My stomach, liver, and heart became affected, and I thought I would surely die. I tried Ayer's Pills and they helped me right away. I continued their use and am now entirely well. I don't know of anything that will so quickly relieve and cure the terrible suffering of dyspepsia, as Ayer's Pills."—John C. Pritchard, Brodie, Warren Co., N. C.

FOR VICTORY.

[CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

Robert T. Lincoln, Chicago; Hon. Henry M. Teller, Washington; Hon. J. C. Burroughs, Michigan; Hon. John Patton, Jr., Michigan, and General J. S. Clarkson, Washington. The last, Senator Cameron's, which was read by Chairman Thurston. At the mention of the names of Reed and Lincoln general applause was given. The silver views of Mr. Clarkson aroused the Western delegations to enthusiasm, but when they realized what the Cameron letter contained they went fairly wild with joy. They jumped to their feet cheered and waved hats, while the ladies joined in the applause. Three cheers for Cameron were given. Hon. Henry M. Teller said: "It would give me great pleasure to comply with your request especially as the meeting of the league this year is to be held in my own State. It is however, quite out of the question for me to get away from Washington at this season of the year."

Mr. Moore of Tennessee was now recognized to express the views of Southern Republicans for the benefit of the party of the nation after which the business convention adjourned until to-morrow morning.

Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting was held to-night at which addresses were made by Hon. Frank J. Cannon of Utah, Senator Dubois of Idaho, Hon. J. M. Thurston of Omaha, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster and others. Mrs. Foster said in part: "The plane of American civilization rests upon four substantial pillars which are set in a robust citizenship of moral intelligence. These four pillars are the American industrial system, American methods in economics, a financial policy and political equality. Each direct and self-supporting, is, because of its common foundation and common roof, co-related and inter-dependent.

"We must protect silver as a commodity, because it is one of the industries of the country. Wholly apart from its value as a commodity we find silver one of the coin metals of the world. We need an abundant medium of exchange, because of our magnificent and unequalled industrial, economic and political policies and because of our ever increasing population. The gold of our country and of the world is insufficient for our needs. We must have silver, for it only is sufficient in quality and quantity. The present volume of the circulating medium of this country is less than $25 per capita, while the volume of our business largely predominates that of any other nation of the earth. If this circulation were advanced to $40 per capita, we should then not exceed an amount sufficient for the easy exchange of our products.

"We ask, then, for the unlimited coinage of American silver until such time as this $40 per capita is reached. It will require the life of a generation under ordinary business development to reach this amount from the American product."

McAlpine's Boom.

Colonel McAlpine's boom for President of the league has gained rapidly in size to-day. Under the management of the small but industrious delegation from New York has become a formidable candidate and the chances are good for his success. The Cleveland contingent assisted by the Ohio delegation has shouted until every one speaks in whispers, but they are likely to win the prize.

Unless the convention gets excited over the silver resolutions to-morrow the convention will be very quiet and an adjournment will occur by evening.

Des Moines Gets It.

The committee on place decided in favor of Des Moines by a vote of 15 to 12, the 12 being cast for Minneapolis. Cleveland was not in it. It is also stated that the platform will endorse the larger use of silver.

It is reported on pretty good authority that a party of Soapy Smith's gang from Denver has taken up an abode in this county and are located in Colorado City at a saloon which has a reputation not the best in the world. It is supposed they have been meeting with such hard luck in Denver for the past few weeks that they have taken to the provinces to get in their work on the summer visitors. They should be squelched without mercy, as well as any joint that takes them in.

Iowa State Band.

The Broadmoor Casino will be opened by the celebrated Iowa State Band on next Monday. The band consists of forty members, and a number of them were originally members of Gilmore's and Sousa's bands. They are spending this week in Denver giving concerts. They were brought out by the Eastern members of the National Republican League. They will be at the Casino on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, giving two concerts each day, afternoon and evening. An exchange says: "The Iowa State Band is an organization of the best musical talent obtainable, led by an expert musical director, and run as a business institution. The membership of the band comprises a company of skilled musicians and perfect gentlemen."

A Fine Concert.

A very pretty entertainment was given at the First Christian Church last evening and was largely attended. The programme was of a high order of merit and the participants among the best known in their special line in the city. Miss Inez Fields was the reader and scored a great triumph. She was repeatedly recalled after each number. Mrs. Seldomridge was the soloist and she gave the "Angel's Serenade" with feeling and expression. It was one of the choice numbers of the evening. Miss Fields gave two piano solos and the difficult work exhibited was fully appreciated by the audience. Miss Fields also acted as accompanist and with great satisfaction to all. Mr. Byron Fields had a vocal solo and acquitted himself with credit. Mrs. Agnew, Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Gardner, the popular stringed instrument players, gave two numbers that were better. They were warmly received. The last number was a chorus of female voices made up from the best singers in the city. It was the crowning number of the evening.

New Sporting Goods House.

Mr. E. H. Morse of Pueblo has opened a sporting goods house in this city, at No. 18 Pike's Peak ave. Mr. Morse is an accomplished workman in his line, and is prepared to do all kinds of repairing, such as gun work of all kinds, lock and key work, recovering and repairing parasols and umbrellas; and in fact everything that a place of his kind is supposed to do. The city has long needed a place of this kind, and the public will no doubt be glad to know that the right man is here to fill the demand. He has had an establishment of this kind in Pueblo for the past fifteen years. He will carry a line of sporting goods, such as rifles, revolvers, ammunition, etc., and will make a specialty of fine fishing tackles.

Note what the Chieftain says about him:

"Mr. E. H. Morse, of H. M. Morse & Sons, has severed his connection with the Pueblo firm, and will make his home at Colorado Springs in future, where he will establish a sporting goods, gunsmithing, locksmithing and general repairing establishment, similar to the Pueblo house with which he has been so long connected. Mr. L. G. Morse has purchased his father's interest in the business here and will continue it.

"Mr. E. H. Morse will open his place of business at Colorado Springs about June 20, and the Chieftain wishes to say to the people of the Springs that any business they may have in Mr. Morse's line could not be entrusted to better hands. He is a number one workman, competent and thoroughly qualified in all branches of gun and lock smithing, and well posted in sporting goods of all kinds. Mr. Morse is a square business man in every way, and is worthy the confidence of the people in whose city he will make his future home. The Chieftain cordially commends him to the people of Colorado Springs and wishes him and his charming family success and prosperity in his new home."

WHY TAKE THE WABASH

For St. Louis?
Because it is the shortest line, the best equipped line, runs free chair cars, buffet Pullmans, and gives you ample time in Kansas City for supper.
For Toledo or Detroit?
Because it is the shortest line, avoids transfer across the city in cars you are going further east, and makes close connections with all trunk lines
For New York or Boston?
Because it has solid through service from both Chicago and St. Louis via Niagara Falls; gives forty minutes stop at the falls at season's time in the morning.
For all other Eastern Points?
Because its service is uniformly good and you can make no mistake in asking for tickets via the Wabash. C. H. HAMPSON,
Commercial Agent, 1221 17th St., Denver.

A WORD WITH YOU.
Two blades of grass where there was one before. That's what our garden hose makes; and that's what Jerry Simpson says is "honest productive effort." Think of it! Velvety lawns, fruitful gardens; refreshened rarefied atmosphere. This is the picture our garden hose calls up, and makes you feel a fatherly interest in all creation. After the evening meal he gives to the grass and flowers the drink that the skies have denied, supplementing Dame Nature's work, correcting her shortcomings. We can find poetry in garden hose. You can not find profit in cheap garden hose. We sell the most durable garden hose in the world. Don't forget that we are leaders in hose novelties.
